

Notch®

Our flooring is expertly designed and made with great care from finest European oak. Engineered with the highest precision and meticulous quality standards. This specification sheet is relevant for all sixteen colours within the Notch Originals Collection.

Grades

Character Grade

Character grade is typified by a wider spectrum of colour variation defined by its composition of heartwood and sapwood, where visually knots are more pronounced.

Prime Grade

When it comes to clean beautiful looks, prime grade comes with few knots and less colour variation. All in all, it's the discerning choice.

Aftercare

It's easy to look after an oiled wood floor with a little tender loving care. There are though a few differences when it comes to residential and commercial flooring maintenance.

For everyday cleaning at home, simply using a vacuum cleaner, dry mop or soft brush is all that's needed to take care of dust or dirt. For a deeper clean, please take a look at our aftercare section for more specialised advice and recommended use of Osmo products.

Where there is a greater footfall in public places, damp mopping may be done on a daily basis, with regular treatment of a maintenance oil. At your discretion this may be applied to the area of heaviest use or to the whole space using an electric buffing machine. For residential wood flooring a maintenance oil is only necessary if the wood starts looking a little worse for wear.

Please take a look at the Notch aftercare section on the website and the recommended use of Osmo products to give your floor the very best care.
